

A QUIET LABOR DAY weekend in the county was aided by Milam County REACT as they again sponsored a rest stop for weary travelers. Some 578 cars stopped with a total of 1,326 signing the register. Here a Marlin couple is served a cold drink. The Labor Day rest stop is an annual effort of the citizens raid club.

$492,000 Allocation Set For City Programs

The city of Cameron will be on the receiving end of some $492,000 over the next six years, council members were told at a regular meeting Tuesday evening.

The funds will be from the new Annual Arrangements Program and will pump $123,000 into city coffers for the first three years with lesser amounts during the remaining years, Major Gene Blake said in a report on a Dallas workshop held to explain the new program.

Blake said the mayor and council will assume full responsibility for carrying out plans for use of the fund, and the first year's program has already been worked up by the city planning commission for implementation starting January 1, 1975. The city housing board and community development agency will work under the city council, Blake said. In other business, council voted 3-2 to purchase the Bass property in downtown Cameron, present site of Tommy's Taxi, for $14,000. The building will be demolished and the property held with an eye to building a new city hall in the future. Councilman Bob Clark voiced opposition to the purchase as did Councilman Lincoln Mondrik. They voted against the motion to buy.

Council heard that the city is ready to complete a lease on 75 acres of land southwest of Cameron to be used for a new sanitary landfill. The present landfill is out of space and Mayor Blake said the new acreage should last 10 to 12 years.

Council also:

--Voted to renew a fire protection contract with the county at $800 a year;

--Discussed servicing of the new police radio equipment and old equipment. Proposal from a Temple firm was $1236 a year with 24 hour service;

--Authorized Fire Chief Monroe Bruedigan to contact users of a portable fire monitor system for the department for more information on cost, range, etc;

--Heard Works Supt. Bill Dase report that signs around the schools were not installed because they do not meet standards set by a new law. He will purchase the necessary signs and posts and install according to directions from the Texas Highway Department;

--Heard that parking markers on North Houston Street will not be installed until a drainage problem is corrected. Plans call for a drain outlet to be installed at the alley next to TP&L Co.;

--Discussed week end trash disposal and agreed that an attendant should be on hand to see that trash and garbage are put in the proper places;

--Made plans to meet Sept. 10 with officials from the Temple Chamber of Commerce to discuss routing of the "Port To Plain" highway, a proposed four-lane facility from West Texas to the Gulf.

Testimony Begins In Murder Trial

Testimony began Tuesday morning at Belton in the trial of Ignacio Martinez, 57, of Rogers, charged in the February slaying of a Cameron man.

The trial was recessed last Thursday until 9 a.m. Tuesday after lawyers spent nearly two full days selecting a jury.

Judge Don Busby, 26th District Court, delayed opening of testimony until after the Labor Day holidays.

Martinez is charged in the slaying of Ruben M. Vega, 26, of Cameron. Vega was shot at the farm home of Martinez six miles west of Rogers.

Vega was married to Martinez's daughter, but was separated from her at the time of the shooting. Vega's wife and children were living with her father.

Folk Dancers To Perform At SA Festival

The German Folk Dancers of local and area fame will be among the more than 200 German-Texans from Milam, Bexar, Comal, Gillespie, and Kendall counties presenting their annual traditional foods, music, dances, arts and crafts at the third annual Texas Folklife Festival in San Antonio, Sept. 12-15.

The group is one of 26 major ethnic groups who have contributed to the growth of Texas and participating in Texas' "Biggest Block Party" on the grounds of the UTSA Institute of Texan Cultures.

Third year veterans of the Festival, the 20-member Cameron German Folk Dancers will be directed by Charles W. Kunz.

Dancing will be Mr. and Mrs. Larry Coker, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Crook, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hanel, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hundle, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kostroun, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Michalka, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shuffield and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Woodum all of Cameron. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Perkins and Laura Perkins of Fairfield complete the dance group.

The Texas Folklife Festival is billed as a great ethnic reunion of foods, music, dances, games, contests, and arts and crafts. It is four days of fun, food and frolic for the family.

Argument Ends In Death For Local Youth

A Cameron youth is in Milam County jail in lieu of $10,000 bond set after he was charged with the murder of another local youth Sunday.

Eaffie Jones, 17, of Cameron, was charged with murder Monday morning in Justice of the Peace Jess Brock's court following an incident at a local cafe Sunday morning.

The victim was identified as Harry Bennett, 18, of Cameron. He received a gunshot wound and two knife wounds during an argument Sunday morning in a local restaurant.

Police Chief Felipe Martinez said Jones entered the Cameron police station at 10:30 a.m. Sunday and reported that he had just cut and shot Bennett during an argument in the Chat 'N Chew cafe on Highway 36.

Martinez said he questioned the youth and turned him over to Milam County Sheriff Carl Black Sunday afternoon.

Black said the youth was arraigned early Sunday afternoon before Brock for assault with intent to murder, but said since Bennett later died of the wounds, the charge would be changed to murder.

Bennett was taken to Scott and White Hospital by ambulance shortly after the shooting and died at 2:56 p.m., a hospital spokesman said. Bennett reportedly suffered knife wounds in his left arm and armpit, and a gunshot wound in his leg, Chief Martinez said.

Clothing Needed For Local Family

Clothing and household items are being sought for Otis Washington of 1513 W. 12th St., whose home burned down Monday around 3 a.m. The house was a total loss.

Shirts are needed in size 15 and 15 1/2, 16 to 16 1/2; underwear medium and large; pants 30-31, 30-32, and 40-41; shoes size 9, 10, 9 1/2.

The items may be taken to 808 N. Emancipation or call 697-2022, and the folks will pick them up.

Deadline For Slogan Entries Is September 15

The Cameron Chamber of Commerce is issuing a reminder for all who plan to submit a slogan for a new Cameron that the final date to enter the slogan is September 15. The winning entry will be announced September 21.

Prizes amounting to over $100 will be awarded on that date from participating sponsors. Details for the presentation will be announced at a later date.

Entry blanks may be picked up from these sponsors: Mamie A. Helley Insurance, Ben Milam Savings and Loan Association, Wright's Montgomery Ward sales agency, L&M Jewelers, Hefley-Stedman Motor Co., Ben Franklin Variety Store, Culpeppers, Precision Auto Grinding, Mack's Oil Co., Horstmann Tire store, J. C. Penney Co., White's TV, Sears Roebuck & Co. and Barrett's Dr. Pepper Distributing Co. or at the Chamber office.

Scout Night Set Monday For New Boys

Local Boy Scouts will be recruiting new members to packs and troops with "All American Night for Scouting" set Monday, Sept. 12 at Ben Milam School.

All prospective Scouts (boys 8 years of age and older) and their parents are invited to attend the meeting and join up with either Cub Scouts or Boy Scout Troops.

Grant Teaff, Baylor University head football coach is serving as chairman of "All American" night for Scouting. Boys 8-10 or in the third grade may join the Cubs. Boys 11 and over join regular Scouts.

John Bloomshield, Heart O'Texas district Scout executive, said all new boys will be given tickets to the Baylor - Rice football game to be played in November.

John Schmidt is the local Scout Roundup chairman.

Rogers School Board Studies Growth Needs

A steady growth in enrollment and mandatory kindergarten are the main factors prompting the Rogers school board to look toward planning a possible building program.

The board hired a bonding and fiscal agent at a special meeting in August. Curtis Adrian of First Southwest Co. of Dallas was hired after the board interviewed representatives of two other firms.

The board also has sought the services of an architect, and earlier in summer hired George Christensen Architects of Dallas to discuss plans for new facilities.

Daniel Lesikar, Rogers board secretary, said the board is considering a new high school. "But we're far from knowing what we want. We have talked over several possibilities and the initial plans have been sized down to something more realistic,"

Lesikar said growth in Rogers schools over the past few years has left the facilities with no extra space. "We're just about at our limit now," he said.

Rogers School Supt. Wayne Cornelius said the board plans, which are very tentative and still in the initial stages, are to ease the crowding in grades six through 12.

"The junior high and high school are very crowded now," Cornelius said. "It's not a matter of a larger proportion of students in those grades but where we are housing them."

Cornelius said steady growth in enrollment plus mandatory kindergarten have been the main factors prompting the planning.

"We did not build more facilities to provide for the mandatory kindergarten program," he said. "We made room for them in existing facilities and shuffled the other grades accordingly."

Cornelius said any plans that the board may decide upon would have to consider the needs of the district, the architects' plans and costs.

In Public Officials' Heads...

Your Herald has spoken to issues of competence in schools, city halls, courthouse—the local government and institutions as it has to state and national.

These times require more facility for managing public affairs, just as they require utmost patience and skills in handling private life.

The winnowing process is underway at all these levels for good reason.

The public is absolutely sick of promises and the in-direction of public officials who "get by" when things are running full tilt or better.

A great deal has been asked of the taxpayer at the national level for the past two decades.

Now the taxpayer is looking at the askee, wondering what all the inflation at the national level and mediocre service at various levels are about.

It appears that area schools are examining professional qualifications, that city and county government here are examining pay and services and attitude provided for that pay.

And more of this can be anticipated at the state and federal levels since there is so much government to be examined.

The time is here when the public is going to be served or the public is going to alter further the status quo in public officials' heads.

More To Follow...

Your Herald runs a "Welcome Newcomers" feature which this past Monday congratulated 36 new residents, either head of household or individual who moved here during August.

It is the longest list of newcomers since the feature began early in 1974.

It tells about the climate that is changed here among people as it has among various civic projects. This town is inviting to newcomers, returnees and natives who haven't seen the place in a generation or longer.

What this means that favorable community conditions exist for growth while much of the country is stymied by economics and over-growth.

If we can continue the housing, we can accommodate this much influx each month.. and more.

We often say Cameron has become unique in its attitude and ability to do things well or before other communities try them. A growth cycle amidst a slowdown nationally is another mark of this town's modern view and ability to build it.

We join with townspeople and Milam Countians in welcoming these three dozen. Many have preceded you, and many more are to follow.

"Low Down"
FROM THE
Congressional Record
By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

Senator Thomas F. Eagleton ".... Last week I introduced a bill with the Senator from New York (Mr. Buckley) to revoke the DDT regulation requiring the interlock seatbelt and buzzer system in new automobiles. Our bill would require manufacturers to continue to offer such equipment but would leave the decision to purchase the devices to the individual. To date, this bill has 15 sponsors...."

"I take note of the action of the House yesterday in overwhelmingly adopting an amendment to the Motor Vehicle and Schoolbus Safety Act to make buzzers and interlock systems optional rather than mandatory equipment, although that measure goes further than the bill I have introduced in that Senate...."

"Rarely have I been associated with a piece of legislation that has attracted such widespread interest and support from people of all political persuasions from every part of the country. The issue is rapidly becoming the No. 1 subject of my mail.

"Expressive of the resentment felt by many Americans toward this act of Federal 'big brotherism' was a letter from a New York City physician thanking me for introducing the bill and inquiring as to who was responsible for the mandatory seatbelt regulations in the first place. He wrote:

'Would you please oblige by advising me of the name and whereabouts of the culprit as I expect to dedicate every waking moment from my practice to driving him from public life.'

I personally believe every driver should use seatbelts and I believe they should be encouraged to do so. But I do not believe that the Federal Government has a right to order an individual, in a matter that concerns only himself, to do something that it thinks is in his best interest...."

ROOT COMMENT

We gave advance notice of the seatbelt interlock buzzer system in our column of July 31, 1973. The column was headlined, "BIG BROTHER SAYS 'BUCKLE UP OR BUZZ.' THE LOW DOWN" from the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD gave notice of a ruling that has proved to be aggravating to drivers of cars so equipped.

Hope For No-Tax Session Up With Surplus Report

Hopes for a no-new-taxes session of the legislature soared with surprise predictions of a $910.4 million general revenue surplus at end of the fiscal year next August.

Lawmakers, according to Legislative Budget Board estimates, actually will have $1.5 billion for "extras" over and above:

Maintaining programs at present levels, giving state employees a 23.8 per cent pay raise, adding $800 million to the foundation school program, allocating $393.8 million for emergency measures and allowing for possible loss of $124 million in federal revenue sharing funds.

LBB staff members reported sales tax revenue, spurred by inflation, soared 20.3 per cent during fiscal 1974. Normal growth rate is 9.6 per cent.

The energy crisis also boomed oil and gas production taxes. The oil tax income jumped 65.7 per cent, and the natural gas tax 38.8 per cent. These taxes normally are expected to increase 1.1 per cent and 7.3 per cent annually.

Indications are the legislature, without raising taxes, can expand state aid to local school districts and many other state services.

Full impact of inflation on state operations cannot be measured precisely, however.

The forecast prompted Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, to announce he will introduce legislation to reduce the state sales tax from four per cent to three per cent.

SCHOOL AID PROVIDED—Gov. Dolph Briscoe announced a plan for advance payments of foundation school funds to districts this month to ease financial strain.

Legislative Budget Board went along with the plan which usually is paid in 10 monthly installments. This goes along with regular payment of a tenth of 1974-75 salary and transportation allocations.

State payments to schools in September thus goes up from $81 million to $154 million.

"This early payment ... will allow the school districts to proceed in an orderly manner without having to resort so heavily to short-term borrowing in anticipation of later receipt of state and local revenues," Briscoe said.

"This, of course, will save the schools the interest costs they would otherwise be forced to pay and will alleviate some of the borrowing problems caused by the present tight money situation."

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby recommended a future statute providing that the plan can be used again only with specific legislative approval.

MORE MED. SCHOOLS "UNNEEDED"—A preliminary report of a Texas College and University Coordinating Board advisory committee found no immediate need for additional medical and dental schools.

The tentative report concluded Texas will have "sufficient medical manpower for the decade ahead" with anticipated expansion of present schools and foreseeable trends.

Final action is scheduled October 16 by the committee. One recommendation will call for financial aid to medical students who agree to practice in rural areas.

AG OPINIONS—State employees must be paid for overtime work or given compensatory time in the same pay period, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

• The federal government is constitutionally immune from state sales taxes.

• When a motor vehicle held for rent is converted to personal or business use of its owner, the vehicle sales tax is due.

• A car owned by a dealer and used for his personal purposes is subject to the sales and use tax even though it still has temporary carboard tags.

• Election petitions under the fire and police employee relations action must be signed by five per cent of qualified voters who voted in the last general election in a political subdivision, or 20,000.

• List of bidders on laboratory chemicals sold to the state must be released on demand.

• There is no statutory authority for a county official to take a leave of absence without pay to work for the state.

• A commissioners court has limited powers to regulate utility rates, building or house codes, door-to-door salesmen or home builder bonding.

• Notice of public meetings should be posted three days in advance in a place generally accessible to the public.

Colorado City, Weatherford, Fort Worth, Euless and Abilene.

AGENCIES CUT—Legislative Budget Board voted to cut off funds for three state agencies—the Deaf Commission, the Governor's Commission on Physical Fitness and the Board of Athletic Trainers.

Recommendations go to the legislature for consideration. The small agencies have total appropriations of $95,000 a year and employ a total of only five fulltime employees and two part-time.

SHORT SNORTS

Anne Armstrong, counselor to the president, again hinted at a race for public office in her native Texas.

The Secretary of State's office returned $1.81 million of the $3.84 million appropriated to run primary elections this year.

Pulitzer prize-winning author and columnist William S. White will teach a course at the University of Texas school of communications.

A House sub-committee set a September 30 hearing on campaign finance reporting and disclosure laws.

Texas Water Quality Board approved a Nueces River Authority application for a $1.5 million U.S. Environmental Protection Agency grant for disposal of industrial wastes.

Texas Water Rights Commission turned down a $175,000 bond issue request from Friendswood Drainage District, Galveston County, and approved three for Harris County unit.

CONVENTION DATE SET—The federal circuit court of appeals in New Orleans upheld a district court order that the State Democratic Convention can go on September 17.

Jewish delegates filed suit to delay the convention because the date conflicts with that of Rosh Hashana, a high Jewish holy day.

The court noted the convention date is set by state law, and ruled there was no effort to discriminate against anyone because of religion.

Meanwhile, a fund-raising dinner on the eve of the convention here has been reported an advance sellout.

RECORDS REPORTED—U.S. Department of Agriculture said Texas total cash receipts for 1973 crops and livestock, $6.5 billion, amounted to a new record.

Livestock receipts were up $1 billion and crop receipts $1.4 billion. Texas was third in the nation in total cash income from agriculture, first in cattle, sorghum, cabbage, spinach, wool, mohair, watermelons and upland cotton.

NEW INDUSTRIES—Fifteen new industries located in Texas during July.

Texas Industrial Commission calculated their total projected economic impact at $112 million a year, annual state tax yield at $410,000.

New industries located in Callahan County, Brownsville, Dallas, Lamesa, Houston, McAllen, Grandview,

OLD

Dear Editor:

As I understand it from reading the newspapers that turn up out here, the economists are saying that in our fight against inflation everybody is simply going to have to tighten his belt, which is hard to do if you are wearing overalls, not to mention those new - fangled double - knit slacks that don't even have belt loops. Also, it would be wise to make sure your belt is in good shape before you take it up a notch because if you break it you'll find a new one has tripled in price.

However, my favorite way to fight the effects of inflation is the idea hit on by a big airline. It says the tremendous increase in the price of fuel, repairs, maintenance, salaries, etc. has caused it to lose millions and it's facing bankruptcy and therefore the Federal government should lend it 10 million dollars a month, retroactive to several months back.

That is the answer. Anybody who can't make ends meet is entitled to a government loan and I'd like to find out where I can apply before the line stretches from Washington to Cameron and four times around the block here. If the government will lend me money for every month in the past I failed to make ends meet and for all months in the future the same things happen, I'll guarantee to arrange my operations to be a steady customer from now on.

In some ways it seems to me the fight against inflation is sort of like our fight in Vietnam. After spending billions and billions of dollars over there it's still hard to figure out what we achieved, other than finally getting out.

The question now is, how do you withdraw from inflation?

A rancher friend of mine said cattlemen already have half - withdrawn. They are getting half what their cattle are worth and paying twice as much to raise them. Said if cattle go down a little bit more he's going to have to start paying buyers to take em.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

The Family Lawyer

Safeguarding
the Tenant

Olga returned from the market to find that a burglar had broken into her apartment and decamped with some jewelry. Upon reflection, she decided that the landlord ought to pay damages for the loss.

"His caretaker had left the front door of the building open the entire day," she pointed out in a court hearing. "Obviously that made things easier for the thief. A landlord has a duty to shield his tenants against crime."

But the court said that generally speaking, a landlord has no such duty. Rejecting Olga's claim, the court said crime prevention is primarily the job of the government, not of private property owners.

This is the traditional rule of law, leaving tenants pretty much "on their own" with regard to crime. However, a few courts have ruled recently that at least in certain situations, the landlord may bear some responsibility.

Another case involved an apartment building that was located in a high-crime district. The lobby had only dim lighting, and the front door lock, having once been broken, was left that way.

One night an elderly tenant, entering the lobby, was beaten by an unknown assailant who had been lurking in the darkness. In these circumstances, a court said later, the landlord could be held liable for "creating a condition conducive to criminal assaults."

But even a neglectful landlord won't be blamed if his negligence was not the "proximate cause" of the crime.

Thus, another landlord was held not liable for a robbery, even though he had failed to repair a faulty lock on the tenant's door.

It seems that on the day of the robbery, the tenant had left a ground floor window open. Since the robber may well have gained entry through the window instead of the door, the court said it was impossible to pin the crime on the landlord.

Thread Beef Steak Strips on Skewers For Tasty Kabobs

Set the stage for a leisurely cookout with a menu that reflects the tranquil atmosphere of Pacific Islands. Beef Kabobs Waikiki will quickly promote carefree spirits.

These marinated strips of round steak broil to tender perfection in minutes, says Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock & Meat Board. The strips marinate in a heavenly mixture of soy sauce, lemon juice and spice for special flavor appeal.

Beef Kabobs Waikiki
2 pounds round steak, cut 2 inches thick
1 1/2 teaspoons dry mustard
3/4 teaspoon ground ginger

1/8 teaspoon ground pepper
1/8 teaspoon garlic powder
1/2 cup soy sauce
3 tablespoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons oil
8 cherry tomatoes
8 wedges green pepper
8 whole fresh mushrooms
Slice round steak into strips 1/4 inch thick or less* and place in a plastic bag or pan. Combine mustard, ginger, pepper and garlic powder.

Add soy sauce, lemon juice and oil; mix well and pour over steak strips. Secure bag or cover pan and place in refrigerator to marinate for at least 4 hours. Thread steak strips on metal skewers, accordion-style, placing a cherry tomato, green pepper wedge or whole mushroom between each strip. Place on grill top or in broiler 4 inches from heat. Broil 3 minutes on first side. Turn, brush with marinade and broil 2 to 4 minutes on second side, to degree of doneness desired. 4 to 6 servings.

*Round steak may be partially frozen for ease in slicing.

Tongue and Cuke
For a cool, crispy note, top cooked tongue slices with a combination of chopped cucumber and sour cream, suggests Reba Staggs, National Live Stock & Meat Board home economist. As to the preliminary preparation, cook the tongue slowly in salted water to cover until tender, allowing 3 to 4 hours cooking time. Plunging the tongue into cold water after cooking helps loosen the skin so that it can be easily removed.

Crested Tongue Sandwich
8 to 12 slices cooked tongue, cut 1/4 inch thick
4 slices bread
Butter or margarine
4 lettuce leaves
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1 cup chopped unpeeled cucumber
1 teaspoon minced onion

3/4 teaspoon salt
Spread bread with butter or margarine and top each slice with a lettuce leaf and 2 or 3 slices of tongue. Combine sour cream, cucumber, onion and salt. Place 1/4 cup cucumber topping on each sandwich. Yield: 4 sandwiches.

Farmers Union District Meeting Set For Sept. 13

Texas Farmers Union District VII Director Jack Ward of Coolidge, has announced that a district meeting will be held in Temple at the Holiday Inn on Friday, September 13, at 12 noon. A dutch treat luncheon will precede the meeting.

The district farm organization leader said that the district meeting is being held to set the stage for the pre-state convention activities. According to Ward, county organizations will soon be adopting resolutions and electing delegates to attend the state convention in Houston during December.

"In view of the current farm situation and Farmers

Union's efforts to secure a more stable economic situation for producers, I believe this district meeting will provide a rallying point to plan our fall program to benefit family farmers and ranchers in this region," Ward said.

ETC, ETC

By Johnny Watkins

I was planning on how to make a little money between now and next June 1st the other day by using my gin pencil on the back of a brown paper sack that had had some California grapes in it.

I couldn't make up my mind whether to plant oats and winter my calf crop til a price rise might accidentally come along or leave the land fallow and along in February plant some Milo on the land.

Then my gin pencil quit, or was it my mind quit working, I forget which but the one thought that did come to me was why isn't this information already available to me.

With all the computers in the world and at Land Grant Colleges why hasn't this already been fed into the computer and let it spit out which way the law of probability says I should go. Cattle through the winter or Milo next spring?

Falls County has at least 100,000 acres of some of the best land you ever saw that needs a good solidly set computer run over to break up the clods of insecurity in the steers business.

Why can't Dr's degrees setting up in an air conditioned office give a good Falls County cowman his probability of making a profit next June 1st, right now. That's really not far to figure. My gin pencil won't do it but their high priced and crossbred exotic computers sure ought to hire a better set of figures than my gin pencil.

Another thing I never could figure out is why a weather forecaster can't hit the weather more than 24 hours in advance when he's setting there looking all the way to the Aleutians. Not only that they have a picture of the clouds of the world. They still can't get it.

Reminds me of when I was a boy picking cotton at home and Papa said "Son, get after it today. I want you to come in with as much cotton picked as anybody out there." I knew he meant it. I could get away with it a little while, that is coming in with a little jag of cotton but when you saw him coming with a good strong china-berry limb all stripped off of leaves, you knew it was too late.

Have you ever had the desire to take a China-berry limb to an Economist who should be able to run a few figures through a computer and tell you what a set of cattle would do in June of '75 or better yet have you ever wanted to take the weather forecaster to the corn crib and you with a set of check-reins when it rained and you had some high priced hay on the ground?

I'll bet my Papa could have improved the computer's action considerable and as for the weatherman's accuracy, he would have stripped that China-betty clean by now, but he would have gotten some action.

That is another ham in the smokehouse.

County Agent's Notes

Rains Slow Harvest But Good For Pastures

By Bill McCutche.

Rains last week slowed the cotton harvest, but was quite welcome to almost everyone but the cotton farmers. Cotton harvest was about half through before the rains began and gin yards were stacked with cotton trailers. With favorable weather most of the cotton should be harvested by mid-September.

The Milam County cotton crop looks to be about 35% less than last year on a per acre basis.

With cotton yields and prices down this year and good grain sorghum yields and prices, many producers are threatening to go heavy on grain sorghum at the expense of cotton in '75. Whether this would be the right thing to do or not no one will know until harvest time next year, but it usually doesn't pay to put all the eggs in one basket.

Excellent rains over the county gives us an excellent opportunity to get winter pastures off to a good start. Winter pastures should be planted about September 1 as winter forage has to be grown in the fall before cold weather stops growth.

Excellent moisture also gives as an opportunity to make a good hay crop and have some good fall grazing.

FALL GARDENING
If you haven't started your fall garden you are still not to late on many items. You are probably too late for Irish potatoes, sweet corn and the like, but many fine vegetables can be grown in the fall.

If you have live tomato plants left from the spring that show signs of growth, rejuvenate them by pruning all of the old stems above the new growth and fertilize lightly about every three weeks.

Early September is the time to make the last planting of summer squash and cucumbers.

Green beans planted during August or early September usually produce the highest quality for freezing and canning, since the harvest occurs during cooler weather when the fiber content is low.

For further information on home gardening come by or call the County Extension office.

Bulletin B - 1139 "Home Gardening in Texas" is available on request.

No Set-Aside In Farm Programs

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz has announced that the 1975 feed grain, wheat, and upland cotton programs will have no set-aside requirement, and will provide farmers decision making freedom to produce for the marketplace.

He stressed there will be no land removed from agricultural production under these government programs.

As the Department stated when announcing the 1974 programs, there will be no conserving base requirement for the duration of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 (through the 1977 crop year).

Nor will the provision be implemented during the life of the 1973 Act which gives the Secretary discretionary authority to limit feed grain and wheat to a percentage of allotments and upland cotton planted in excess of the base allotment.

The Secretary pointed out that the allotments under programs authorized under the 1973 farm bill do not represent a limit on acreage, but are computed only for the purpose of payments to producers should such payments be required.

Generally, the allotments for wheat, corn, grain sorghum and barley based on the estimated national average yield which would result in production equal to estimated domestic and export disappearance in the 1975-76 marketing year.

Also, as in 1974, the producers may substitute any non-conserving crop or any conserving crop used for hay or for grazing in order to preserve their wheat, feed grain or cotton allotments and to make them eligible for any payments under the target price feature. Crops for which a marketing quota is in effect are excluded.

Because of the market-oriented nature of these programs, producers will be studying prices rather than allotment acreages, Secretary Butz said. The price incentive should result in full plantings and with normal weather conditions should enable the U. S. to not only fulfill domestic and export requirements but to build up much needed stocks as well, he said.

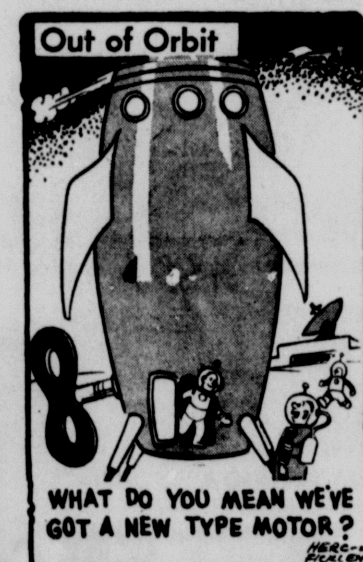

Secretary Butz said today's announcement will provide farmers with information they need to make their 1975 crop planting decisions. Additional program provisions will be announced after the Department has had an opportunity to make a better determination of 1974 production, he said.

Vows Pledged At McKinney

Miss Lori Jo Province and David Earl Esslinger were married August 10 in St. Michael's Catholic Church, McKinney, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence William Province of Frisco and was a student at Southwest Texas State University and Texas A&M.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Esslinger, Jr. of Berwyn Pa., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Matula of Cameron. He is a 1972 graduate of Texas A&M University with a Bachelor of Animal Science degree.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an A-line gown of white silk organza. Her elbow length veil was attached to a headband of lace and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of orchids surrounded by white rosebuds, blue baby's breath and greenery.

Honor attendants were Miss Linda Bosby of Houston and Robert Mormon of Baytown.

Bridesmaids were Vicki Blackmon, Kim province and Terry Mayfield. Groomsmen were Rick Esslinger and Mike Esslinger, brothers of the groom.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall.

The couple will make their home in College Station where he will continue work toward a Master's degree and she will be a junior majoring in elementary education.

Temple CAC Adds Drama To Calendar

The Temple Cultural Activities Center is bringing professional drama to Temple with three performances scheduled for November, January and March.

The Dallas Theatre Center will present a duo-performance in November of "The Hollow Crown" and "The Lovers." "Hollow Crown" is a collection of writings and speeches by and about the great kings and queens of England. "Lovers" is a program from Shakespeare's works containing some of the most famous love scenes and lovers in literature.

In January the Dallas Theatre Center will return with a production of "The Oldest Living Graduate", a comedy by Texas playwright Preston Jones.

On March 8 the Continental Theatre Company, a professional touring company from the Middle West, will perform "Indians," a drama by one of America's leading playwrights, Arthur Kopit. As a bonus production the CAC is offering an afternoon performance for children, also on March 8. The Continental Theatre Company will present "Cinderella," a new musical comedy by Wesley Van Tassel and Mark Ollington, based on the famous classical story.

Accompanying these performances will be drama workshops. Serving on the CAC's Drama Division Committee are Ted Blankenship, Mrs. Tom Popejoy and Bill Chamlee.

Bob Hope Signs For BU Benefit

Veteran entertainer Bob Hope will appear on stage Nov. 15 in Waco for a benefit show sponsored by Baylor Student Foundation.

Steve Buss, foundation president and a senior biology major, from Houston, said proceeds from the show will go into the foundation's first endowed scholarship fund.

The foundation is a group of 73 outstanding Baylor juniors and seniors who work in the areas of university public relations, student recruitment and student scholarships.

Staggering Statistics: About three billion pounds of fish and shell fish are caught commercially for food in the U.S. annually.

Health Food Climbs Up To Million Dollar Industry

The health food industry has become a billion dollar business in the past few years, for a number of reasons.

Perhaps one of the most significant is the desire of some persons to return to a simpler, more natural way of living.

Also, some people are concerned about the state of the environment and its effect on the foods that are available for human and animal consumption. In addition, some people want to protest the increased use of food additives and the advertising claims for certain foods by choosing alternatives to "supermarket foods."

Yet sometimes, the consumers purchasing "health" or "organically grown" foods and frequenting "natural food stores" don't really have a clear idea of what such terms mean.

According to the White House Office of Consumer Affairs and many health food advocates these distinctions should be made:

1. "Natural" foods have no preservatives, stabilizers, or artificial ingredients. They are as unrefined as possible, but aren't always "organically grown." Honey, blackstrap molasses, whole wheat flours, and brown rice are examples of "natural" foods.

2. "Organic" foods are virtually the same as natural foods, but this term also means they have not been treated with pesticides or chemical fertilizers. They are usually grown with natural fertilizers such as animal manure or compost. This definition excludes just about everything you could buy in a supermarket, but it also excludes a lot of what many health food stores sell.

3. "Health" foods can include both natural or organic foods but can also refer to vegetarian and dietetic foods. Yogurt is often thought of as "health" food, but it isn't "natural" if it has sugar, and it isn't "organic" if it contains preserved fruit that was sprayed with a pesticide.

Consumer experts point out that comparative shopping indicated health foods can cost an average of 15 to 25 percent more than regularly processed foods. Meat and some dairy products may even be twice as expensive. It's necessary for consumers to decide if such foods are worth this extra cost.

While health food enthusiasts acknowledge that prices are higher, they say it's because without chemical pesticides or fertilizers crops are smaller, making expenses per product greater.

Some items that show the biggest difference between supermarket prices and health food store prices are sugar, preserves, juices, butter and margarine, all meats, bread, and peanut butter.

Health food advocates point out that a health food diet can often cost less on the whole than a regular one, however, because meat substitutes such as soybeans provide enough protein so high-prices meats may be eliminated from the diets. Such meatless meals then would cost about the same as a regular diet with meat.

Consumers should be aware that many nutritionists and medical authorities feel health food proponents sometimes exaggerate the benefits of health foods.

The Kitchen Almanac

But you didn't know dept. - popcorn contains more food energy than 96 percent of all edible foods... Barbecue Cue: Charcoal should be "ash white" hot before you begin cooking.

Ann Johnston of Chicago sends along her favorite recipe for Blueberry cake. It makes a mighty good dessert and we're happy to pass it along.

Blueberry Cake
One package yellow cake mix
One teaspoon vanilla
1 can (1 lb. 5 oz.)
Blueberry Pie Filling
2 eggs, beaten
Using a large mixing bowl, combine all ingredients until well-blended. Pour into a 9 1/2" x 13 1/4" greased cake pan and bake at 350° for 35 minutes or until cake is done when tested. Frosting? Your favorite white!

Raw fruits and vegetables are good tooth decay fighters. Their crisp, crunchy and juicy interiors can help cleanse sticky food from teeth before bacteria can build-up.

Love Italian food and watching your weight? Use ricotta cheese in place of cottage cheese when making lasagna. You'll really cut down on calories... When "washing" fruit - it's a good idea not to let the fruit stand in water. Some lose food value and flavor that way and others get "water soaked."

Use a muffin tin to make individual salad and dessert gelatin molds. In half the tins, mix grated vegetables with the gelatin and in the other half add fruit and/or nuts. Presto! - you have both salad and dessert ready. (Tip: If you coat each tin with mayonnaise beforehand, mold will slide out easier.)

Folklife Festival To Feature Area For Kids

Youngsters attending the Texas Folklife Festival in San Antonio, Sept. 12-15, will have their own fun area "Barnyard Doings" a huge pioneer playground center constructed for children.

According to the director of "Barnyard Doings" Mrs. Margaret Beadles, Kerrville youngsters will have the opportunity to learn new skills, arts, crafts and play games, some of which date back to frontier days.

The kids can see - saw, jump rope, blow bubbles, play in a hay stack between two barns, push a wheel barrow blind-folded through an obstacle course or make their own folk posters to hang on the barn walls.

Mrs. Eleanor Hanover Nance and assistant Mrs. Cleve Want, of College Station, will teach youngsters hand loom weaving and oversee a Christmas Tree exhibit decorated with old-time toys.

Mrs. Beadles will demonstrate dung-pit kiln firings on opening day, Sept. 12, and at 3 p.m. Sat., Sept. 14. Visitors may help fire the kiln (a slow six hour process), toss chips into the firing pit and make their

Operation Peace Of Mind Aims At Runaway Child

Operation Peace of Mind, the Houston-based telephone hotline for runaway children, was the topic of intense discussion at Tampa, Florida, August 28 and 29. Representatives of 26 governors were on hand to examine ways their states could be linked with the 24-hour service.

It was explained that the hotline was begun by Governor Dolph Briscoe a year ago because of the grisly discovery of the bodies of 27 young men in the Houston area.

Hundreds of concerned parents from all over the United States were calling Houston to see if one of the corpses was that of their runaway child. Originally, the operation's costs were defrayed by private contributions with a recent assist by a Criminal Justice Division grant of $21,000.

Governor Briscoe opened the volunteer staffed service with the idea that if runaways called and their message that they were alive and well was relayed to their parents, then they indeed would have that wanted peace of mind. At that time, no one dreamed how the idea would grow and develop to the status it has received throughout the country.

Over 4,000 runaways from 47 states have called Peace of Mind since last September to let someone they care about know that they are safe. Many calls have resulted in the runaways voluntarily returning to their homes and families.

The national impetus of the service began to grow when the Florida legislature, in an unprecedented action, appropriated $20,000 in funds to publicize the Texas hotline number throughout that recreation state, which ranks high in runaways.

Governor Briscoe observed, "The extraordinary thing about Operation Peace of Mind is that it not only meets a Texas need to help runaway children, but touches every state and every parent's heart whose child is away from home."

Because of the increasing interest in the project from other states, Governor Briscoe and Florida Governor Reubin Askew jointly initiated the Tampa conference to discuss various methods of publicizing the hotline number in all other states to help as many children as possible.

Grace Surguy, director of POM, said "the reason Peace of Mind works is that all calls are confidential. We only relay the message runaways want relayed - no more and no less."

"The runaway calls us on a toll-free number that is not traced and asks us to call someone to say they are okay. They generally call back later to see if there was any reply to their message," she added.

"Most runaways are afraid to call their parents directly, fearful that they might be rejected. It's a big decision for them to make that first telephone call," she continued.

"One of the most rewarding aspects of Peace of Mind is that the runaways call to us and the reply from the parents that the child is loved and wanted back home often makes the two contact each other directly and work out a reconciliation based on love and better understanding," Ms. Surguy concluded.

The conference delegates have returned to their governors with the details of how to best help the runaway children of America. Most have indicated an immediate willingness to begin implementation of publicity throughout their state of the Peace of Mind hotline number.

With the expected increase of publicity on the national hotline number (1-800-231-6946) and of the Texas WATS number (1-800-392-3352), Texas is preparing to add more in-coming WATS lines as the traffic demands. Texas will continue to supply the communications equipment and staff support, with other states advertising the telephone number.

Calvert To Raise Funds For Church

Members of the First Baptist Church, Calvert, recently approved a building fund drive with a goal of $125,000. The purpose of the financial drive is to raise funds for the erection of an educational building to be located east of the present sanctuary. It was announced at the business meeting that $40,000 had already been raised for the project.

It was the opinion of the members that $100,000 of the financial goal should be raised before construction would begin. Leonard Reinke, building designer of Waco, is drawing the plans and specifications for the building. When these have been completed bids will be received for the construction of the building.

Kubiak Prepares For 64th Session

Bills to move two holidays to their original dates will be offered by Rep. Dan Kubiak when the 64th session of the legislature meets.

In his weekly newsletter, Kubiak said the bills will cover moving Veterans Day back to November 11 and George Washington's birthday back to February 22.

Both dates were moved to fall on a Monday a few years ago.

Another bill he is drafting before the session opens is one to repeal daylight savings time in Texas.

"Of course," he said "during the energy crisis last winter, the Congress agreed to a request by the President to extend daylight savings time for the whole year, instead of the traditional six months."

"I did not like daylight savings time then, and I certainly do not like it the year round. I have always been of the opinion that our clocks should best follow what nature and the sun tell us about what time of day it is."

Kubiak said some estimations call for a surplus of $1.5 billion in the state treasury about one year from now.

"This is certainly good news and is a result of an increase in the amount of money many of the state's taxes, like the oil and gas tax, are bringing in," Kubiak said.

Kubiak said the legislature should reduce taxes, including the sales tax which could be cut three cents on the dollar instead of the present four cents.

Gas Rate Increase Granted

Lone Star Gas Company received a Texas Railroad Commission order today authorizing an increase in the intracompany charge for gas ultimately sold to residential and commercial customers and for distribution unaccounted-for gas.

Based on a 1972 volume of 130 billion cubic feet for such gas, Lone Star requested in May of 1973, an increase of 8.1¢ per thousand cubic feet. The request was for the recovery of a return and other costs associated with the company's 400 mile West Texas pipeline, a return on $9.6 million for advance payments and prepayments as of the date of filing to obtain new gas supplies and to recover the cost the company had incurred to purchase gas as of the date of filing.

The Commission authorized a return on the investments and recovery of the cost of purchased gas. An earlier examiner's report recommended no return on the pipeline. A 3.55¢ increase was granted by the Commission in this proceeding.

That portion of the increase cost of purchased gas which represents the increased cost of purchased gas will be flowed-through to residential and commercial customers, where authorized. Lone Star must apply to the cities and towns it serves for the approval of the balance of the increase.

Harbour Listed In Publication

DR. BRIAN L. HARBOUR, of Jackson, Miss., and son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Harbour of Rogers, has been chosen one of the "outstanding young men of America" for 1974. The announcement was made on August 26.

In a letter to Harbour's parents, Doug Blankenship, chairman of the Board of Advisors, said "Your son is one of the select number of young men from across the country to be awarded this honor on the basis of his civic and professional achievements. Blankenship continued: "As an Outstanding Young man, your son will be presented in the 1974 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America."

Harbour is pastor of Colonial Heights Baptist Church in Jackson. The first week in August he preached a revival in his home church, the First Baptist Church of Rogers. He is married to the former Janet Sportsman of Kansas City, and they have three children.

Enrollment Is Record For TJC

Temple Junior College has reached an all time record enrollment for credit classes this fall. There has been a 14 percent increase over the 1973 fall semester enrollment. As of noon Friday, 1401 students had registered for classes at TJC, Registrar Charles L. Stout said.

Late registration for fall semester credit classes at Temple Junior College will continue through September 11, he has announced.

Students wishing to apply for admission to fall semester classes may do so in the Registrar's office on the TJC campus, Stout said. The Registrar's office is open from 8 a.m. - noon, and 1-5 p.m., Monday through Friday. The office will also be open for evening division late registration from 6:30 to 7:15 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday nights, except Labor Day.

Not much of a world—when you consider all its human imperfections. Yet it's the world we are giving our children—the world in which they must grow up and find their destiny. And we keep hoping that theirs will be a finer generation—one able to improve this world.

What our children eventually do with the world depends upon our spiritual resources and how we share these truths and ideals with them. By encouraging faith and showing them right from wrong, our children can become the finest generation, destined to change the world—for the better.

Is there a church in your life? There should be!

HERALD SPORTS

Cameron, Texas, Herald, September 5, 1974 Page 9

Sports Spotlight

By Forrest Guess
The Herald will feature local football results again this season. We plan to have nine area schools spot-lighted in Monday's edition. The featured schools include, Rockdale, Thorndale, Rosebud-Lott and Hearne. Also included will be, Caldwell, Rogers, Buckholts, Milano and Calvert. Lookover the area it seems there are going to be some close games. The Herald staff has set up a Sports Hotline and will receive area scores for each of these towns. We feel this will serve our sports reading public better.

An aspect of the season ahead that is often left out is the school band. People tend to forget the importance of all the activities of the school. Sometimes football is over emphasized in importance in respect to other activities.

Things such as band, basketball, track, baseball are important to the development of the students. The Herald will strive to relate to the total picture and not to just one.

At this Friday night football game the Yoe High Band will perform at half-time. Much light is spotted on Yoe High Band Director Jerry Bartley as Friday, will be his Cameron debut. I want to express my enthusiasm on the upcoming season and I will predict the Yoemen will be victorious against the Ducks, 20 to 19.

11 Return For Ducks

Taylor will be returning 6 offensive and 5 defensive starters from their 5-5 season last year. Outstanding players such as Elroy Stoglin (6'3" and 185) end and center Win William (190) will strengthen this very competitive team.

The Yoemen defense will be seeing skilled quarterbacks Bruce Turner and Chris Marshall lead the Ducks in one of the best built teams in that 12-AAA district.

Visit HERALD STATIONERY for your office supply needs.

8 Seniors On Eagle Squad

Hearne Eagles will return 19 lettermen this football season. The total roster numbers 34 with 8 seniors, 15 juniors and 11 sophomores.

Quarterbacks Melvin Bates and David DeStefano will be calling on backs Marvin Powell, Larry Murphy and Dell Thomas. Also in the backfield are Eddie Wells, Carl Reistino, Scott Sigles, Alonzo Hammond and Walter Gurode. The average weight of the backfield is just under 162 pounds.

Candidates for the offensive linemen positions are, Delton Kittrell, Marty Scirratt, Kenny Kesner and Steve Doherty.

Guard possibilities include Gary Payne, Ray Anderson, Gene Bonorden, James Townley, Floyd Bryd and Lee Roy Thomas. The list also includes David Payne and Delbert Mack.

Tackles include Arthur Turner, J. D. Wilkins, Bruce Clayton, Wendell Johnson and Fred Dunn.

There will be four choices to fill the two end positions they include Kenneth Adams, Daniel DeStefano, Paul Allen and Scott Bossier.

Hearne has been picked to win the 12 2A district this season. With outstanding senior lettermen David DeStefano, Kenny Kesner and Kenneth Adams, coach Herb Sigle has the leadership and ability to be the title winner in this strong 2A district.

Ducks To Test Yoemen Strength

The Cameron Yoemen will have a good idea of how their 1974 football season will go after their game Friday night. If they do well Friday night against the Taylor Ducks a good season is in store, since the Ducks are ranked high in that powerful 12-3A district.

Assistant Coaches Graham and Huffman said, that they didn't have a chance to watch the Ducks after their scrimmage was cancelled last Friday night. The coaches did say however, the scouting report from the Taylor and Marlin scrimmage was that the Ducks offensive game was quiet impressive. Graham said, "Taylor and Rockdale are the top contenders in that 12 3A district. So this game Friday night will be real important."

Game time is set for 8:00 Friday at Yoe Field. Reserve tickets will be sold at the gate starting at around 7 p.m.

RX FOR FALL GOODNESS: MOLASSES COOKIES

School time is here again, a time when we mothers begin to think of school lunches, heartier appetites and good nutrition. So, what's a mother to do? One thing would be to reach for the molasses.

Besides lending its unique spicy flavor to a wide variety of baked treats, molasses has a nutritional bonus: it's rich in energy-producing iron, a nutrient many believe is short in today's diets. Molasses comes in two flavors. Light—a sweet, taffy-colored syrup—is good added to milk or used as a topping for pancakes, biscuits or other breakfast breads. Dark molasses is generally used in baking, especially in recipes which contain several spices, since it "marries" the flavors.

Increase your family's iron intake the easy way. Use molasses as a sweetener in barbecue sauce, baked beans or spaghetti sauce. Select recipes which use molasses. Here's one which contains a wealth of health-giving foods: Molasses, bananas, peanuts, raisins, oatmeal, wheat germ, even nonfat dry milk for protein and calcium. Best of all, the kids will love these cookies for their school lunches or after-school treats... and Dad will love them, too!

MOLASSES-PEANUT DROP COOKIES

1/4 cup vegetable shortening 1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
1/2 cup dark molasses 2 eggs
2 cups mashed bananas 1 cup chopped peanuts
(4 med. ripe) 2 cups quick-cooking oatmeal
1 cup dark raisins 1/2 cup nonfat dry milk
1/2 cup wheat germ 1 tsp. baking soda
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour 1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. salt

In large mixing bowl, cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Stir in molasses and eggs. Stir in bananas, peanuts, raisins and oatmeal. Stir in remaining ingredients and blend thoroughly. Drop by heaping teaspoonful about 1" apart onto greased cookie sheets. Bake in a preheated 400 degree oven for 12-15 minutes, until lightly browned. Remove cookies from sheet and cool on a wire rack. Store in an air-tight container in a cool place. Makes four dozen 2" drop cookies.
